SEMI-WEEKLY, 4 PAGES.

LOCAL.

GRIP has appeared in town. WHEBS are again in order. INDIAN summer weather to-day. SEVERAL children have whooping cough. EASTERN excursions commenced on Friday last. FRASER & Co.'s lumber men will start for the woods to-morrow. DR. Royal has been laid up for some time by inflammation of the lungs. J. E. FORBES and E. L. Taylor returned to Winnipeg on Friday's train.

A CHINOOK last night took away what little sleighing there was in town. TELEGRAPH line blew down last night somewhere between here and Calgary.

THE attendance at the winter assemblies on Friday night was not as large as usual.

JOS. BAUMERMAN, a former resident of Edmonton, arrived on Thursday's train, from Calgary.

H. DULMAGE, brother of Miss Dulmage, Edmonton, arrived on Thursday's train, from Calgary.

THE chinook wind of last night was felt at Battleford and sent the thermometer up to 45 above.

TRAVELLING auditor Western of the C. P. R. arrived on last Monday's train and went out on Friday.

NINE cars of coal were shipped to Calgary, two to Innisfail and one to Lacombe during November.

S. S. TAYLOR, barrister, left for Regina on Friday's train, to attend the sittings of the supreme court there.

FRIDAY'S train took out a car of timothy hay to Donald, B. C., a car of coal to Olds and a car of coal to Calgary.

J. W. KELLY returned last week from Stratford, Ontario, where he has been attending the business college.

R. McKERNAN made the first shipment of timothy hay ever made from Edmonton on Friday's train. It went to Donald, B. C.

W. W. DAVIDSON, western manager for the Massey-Harris company, arrived on Thursday's train from Calgary accompanied by Mrs. Davidson.

P. J. NOLAN, barrister, arrived from Calgary on Thursday to take the case of James Crockett, charged with obtaining goods under false pretences.

H. WILSON is occupying Parrish's new building, South Edmonton, as a dry goods store. The upper story of the building is being fitted up as a hall.

REV. Mr. Barker of Red Deer arrived on Thursday's train and preached the anniversary sermon in the Methodist church yesterday to large congregations.

THE goods under false pretences the prosecution was withdrawn and the prisoner discharged. J. C. F. BOWN for plaintiffs, P. J. Nolan for defendant.

THE Salvation army held a meeting in the Presbyterian church, Fort Saskatchewan, on Friday evening. There was a good attendance. The collection was in aid of the rescue work of the army.

A 16-horse portable engine and boiler with saw and shingle machinery, arrived on Thursday's train for M. McCauley, who proposes to use it in sawing lumber for settlers at Beaver lake and other settlements which are so far from town as to make the hauling of lumber a heavy tax.

THERE is still a space of open water at the lower ferry landing on the north side. Travel now goes by way of the electric light station or by Fraser & Co's mill. This open water, being located at a point where there is great danger of people not acquainted with the fact of its existence driving into it, should be fenced.

A SPECIAL train bringing Supt. Whyte's official car, arrived on Friday morning about eight o'clock. The official party were traffic manager Robert Kerr, superintendent Wm. Whyte, divisional superintendent J. Niblock, master mechanic Mr. Cross and Mr. McGillivray Mr. Whyte's private secretary. The party were driven over to town by Mayor McCauley and returned to south with the train at 2 p. m.

An elegant Edmonton souvenir card has been produced by C. W. Mathers, photo. artist, Edmonton. The card is of cabinet size and contains eight beautiful views, including Main street from the east, the river in front of town, the mill flat, gold washing on the bar, the roller mill, South Edmonton, and three farm scenes. A photo. of the mayor also appears. This card is most attractive in appearance and does the highest credit to the artist.

THE Raymond Hotel, South Edmonton, will be opened on Thursday of this week in time for the train. The hotel has twenty-two bed rooms, large dining room and billiard room, is heated with hot air on all three floors and is well finished and complete in every particular. No expense has been spared in the furnishing, which is second to none in the territories. The outside appearance of the hotel is as attractive as the inside is commodious. The proprietor is entitled to every credit for the enterprise which he has shown in providing such excellent accommodation for the travelling public.

It has been suggested that a more complete system of fire alarms than that recently approved by the council would be to adopt the telephone system as a fire alarm. By removing the telephone central to the fire hall notice of a fire could be given at any hour of the day or night from any telephone on the system. The objection to this proposition would be that in case of an alarm being given at night, it might be difficult for the person desiring to give the alarm to get access to the telephone. But on the other hand in the case of an ordinary fire alarm box the occupants of the house or office in which the key would be kept would have to be aroused in order that the key might be got with which to unlock the alarm box so that the alarm might be given; and no more than that would be necessary with the telephone. On the other hand instead of having only half a dozen fire alarms there would be several dozens.

SALVATION ARMY SELF-DENIAL.

Communicated. As already remarked the efforts being put forth by the Salvationists to make this a real success are prodigious and cannot fail to bring a very gratifying result. Contributions are remitted that $25 will support a girl in the rescue home for three months, and $50 will maintain an entire rescue home with thirty inmates for one week.

December 4th, 1893.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Nelson and Fort Sheppard track is completed and a regular train service will commence on December 6.

Calgary Herald: The grip has attacked many people in and about Revelstoke, and there have been a number of cases of mountain fever in that district.

Reported that the German planters in Samoa are about to sell out to a British-Australian company. This would settle the question of political supremacy in favor of Britain.

Two British soldiers died recently from exposure near Portsmouth, England. They had just returned from Aden, Arabia, and were lightly clad. The war department is being severely censured.

It is reported that if the government continues to put off the appointment Mr. R. S. White, M. P. for Cardwell, to the Montreal collectorship much longer, that he will resign anyway and pitch up the whole business.

Calgary Herald: The proprietors of the Innisfail creamery are jubilant over the success they have met with and propose starting a branch establishment some miles out of that thriving town. They intend to bring in a number of cows to be disposed of on reasonable terms to such settlers as wish to take advantage of the opportunity.

Winnipeg Tribune: C. H. Rodberg, of Brussels, who went west early in the spring with Count Von Cameron of Brussels, has returned on his way home. Mr. Rodberg spent the summer with his cousins, who are ranching near Wetaskiwin. After a few days in town he will return to Brussels, where he will furnish a number of articles for the leading newspapers.

THE Calgary Herald has a most unbecoming, inappropriate and insulting allusion to the Edmonton band. It does not like the uniform adopted. As the uniform did not cost the Herald, or any one else other than the members of the band, anything, it might have confined its ill-natured criticism to matters more nearly concerning it. This band does not exist for the purpose of showing off its uniform as the Herald hints, but to play good music, which it does, in a manner not excelled in Calgary.

The Baroness Burdett-Coutts has endowed not fewer than three Anglican bishoprics. They are those of Cape Town, South Africa; Adelaide, South Australia, and British Columbia. In addition to this she has given $250,000 to the clergy of British Columbia, while $450,000 was expended in the construction of St. Stephen's church, Westminster, in memory of her father. Three other metropolitan churches were built by her, and yet this is but a small portion of the money she has given to charity and benevolence.

A Washington dispatch indicates that the proposed new tariff bill will make sweeping reductions. The substitution of an ad valorem duty of 25 cent, for a specific rate on sugar, together with the abolition of the bounty, will, it is estimated, add $30,000,000 a year to the revenue. If to this be added an income tax with a revenue of sixty million more, together with what may accrue from an increased tax on whiskey, it will be seen that provision has been made for a deficit of upwards of $100,000,000. A revenue so enormous will permit material reductions in rates all along the line, and these, from the best information obtainable, it seems the purpose of the committee to make.

Free Press: We see that the old cry concerning want of fuel in Manitoba has not died out. It was raised when there was not an ounce of coal used outside Winnipeg and when coal in Winnipeg cost $18 to $20 a ton. Estevan coal of good quality is supplied now at $4.25 a ton, much less than half the price of anthracite, and there are several offices and houses in the city heated exclusively by coal from Estevan. In these cases those using it find that it burns brightly and steadily, and is much more economical than anthracite. It is sheer nonsense to talk about want of fuel and attempt to decry the country to that account while good serviceable coal is delivered at a little over $4 a ton.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, DECEMBER 4TH, 1893.

NORTHWEST SCHOOL ORDINANCE.

The Calgary Tribune of latest issue has a long article from the Toronto Globe on the Northwest school question in which the following very misleading sentence occurs: "It is quite clear from the above facts that the separate schools of the Northwest Territories are now separate in name only," the inference being that the Northwest assembly has legislated or attempted to legislate away the right to separate schools enjoyed by the religious minority in the Northwest under the Northwest Territories act. Nothing could be further from the truth. The letter and spirit of the act regarding separate schools have been embodied in the present school ordinance, and if the ordinance is disallowed it will not be because it has trespassed upon any right of the religious minority conferred by statute but because it does not confer other rights or privileges neither mentioned in nor contemplated by the act. It is true that the ordinance passed in December, 1892, made some very important changes in the school law of the Territories, and it may be that those changes are not pleasing to all sections of the community, but they are strictly in accord with the provisions of the Northwest act, and must be judged on their merits as they affect the cause of education in the Northwest for good or ill, and on these grounds alone. It is more than possible that the legislation then passed was not perfect. If so it can be amended without being destroyed by disallowance as has been suggested. The section of the Northwest act relating to schools reads as follows:

"The lieutenant governor in council shall pass all necessary ordinances in respect to education, but it shall therein always be provided that a majority of the ratepayers of any district or portion of the Territories or of any less portion or subdivision thereof, by whatever name the same is known, may establish such schools therein as they think fit and make the necessary assessment and collection of rates therefor; and also that the minority of the ratepayers therein whether Protestant or Roman Catholic may establish separate schools therein—and in such case the ratepayers establishing such Protestant or Roman Catholic separate schools shall be liable only to assessments of such rates as they impose upon themselves in respect thereof."

The evident intent of this section is, not to remove the school system of the Territories from the control or responsibility of the general body of electors, and divide it into two so-called public and separate systems, but simply and solely to give the individual ratepayer the opportunity to protect his religious faith in his children, by allowing him under suitable circumstances, to establish and maintain schools in which the religious faith in which he believes will be taught, and not that in which he does not believe. There is no hint at any difference being allowed in the schools other than in religious matters, and this division is fully and completely provided for by the present Northwest ordinance. Where the Roman Catholics are in a majority in any district the school is called a Roman Catholic school and the religious teaching allowed for half an hour each day is unrestricted by any government regulation. Where a Roman Catholic separate school is established the same rule prevails. Outside of purely religious instruction the course of study, the qualification of teachers, the regulations of the council of public instruction generally are practically the same for all schools, whether public or separate, Protestant or Roman Catholic; and why should they not be on any ground of public policy? Indeed on every ground of public policy they should be the same, so that a child attending one state aided and regulated school will have equal opportunities with children attending other state aided and regulated schools.

The chief difference between the system in force up to January 1st, 1893 and that now in force is that the present system is under the direct control of the executive committee, which is responsible to the assembly and therefore to the people at large, while the former system was under the control of an appointed board who held office for a fixed term and were not responsible to any one. The demand for a change of system arose from a feeling that more money was being paid for education than value was being given for, and that it was necessary to institute a more active management than was possible through the indirect channel of the board of education. In doing away with the board of education many of their regulations were also done away, the idea being to simplify and render more efficient the work done. Possibly the board, constituted as it was to as very large extent of clergymen of different denominations, had paid more attention to religious differences than the Northwest act contemplated or than the public good warranted, but they had not paid one iota more attention to the actual teaching of religion, either Protestant or Roman Catholic according to the views of the majority of the ratepayers of the school district, than is paid under the present ordinance. From the fact that the board of education was largely composed of clergymen and from their having control of school affairs the idea that the schools should be controlled by church men or by the church itself took strong hold. But church control as exercised under the old board of education is a very different matter from religious toleration as provided for in the Northwest act and in the present ordinance. While religious toleration to a reasonable extent meets the views of a large majority of the people of this country the control of schools by any church or number of churches does not. In passing the present ordinance the Northwest assembly had no desire to violate the provisions of the Northwest act in letter or spirit or in any way to trespass upon the religious views of the minority, but they did desire to pass an ordinance that would give these territories an efficient school system at a moderate cost—something they did not have before.

RAILWAY RATES AGAIN.

The visit on Tuesday of Messrs Kerr and Whyte, traffic manager and superintendent of the C. P. R. respectively, was felt to be an opportune time for the discussion of the question of the possibility of a reduction in the rates on produce from Edmonton to the Pacific coast and intermediate points. Mayor McCauley met the party at the station and arranged for an interview with as many of the business men of the town on the subject as could be got together in a short time. At eleven o'clock, Messrs Kerr, Whyte, Niblock and Cross arrived at the Alberta hotel and were met by a large representative body of citizens and business men. Amongst those present were Mayor McCauley, and councillors, McDougall, Strang, Goodridge and Gallagher. John Cameron, president of the board of trade, A. Prince and Frank Oliver, M. L. A's., G. R. F. Kirkpatrick, manager of the Imperial bank, T. W. Lines, grain merchant, J. B. Spurr, editor of the Times, J. H. Picard, James McDonald, Thos. Bellamy, and a number of others. Mayor McCauley said that the question it was desired to discuss was that of railway rates on Edmonton produce going south and west. We had been doing a good deal of talking on the subject and now we had present the men we wanted to talk to. The question of grain rates to the Pacific coast was then discussed, the rates on coal and hay to Calgary, the rate on vegetables to points in Southern Alberta and interior British Columbia. Mr. Kerr alluded to the fact that rates to the coast had recently been reduced. In reply it was pointed out that the rates were fixed on a local basis, which did not admit of business being done, and that as this district could not by reason of its great distance and present low prices avail itself of the export rates given east, its prosperity and further progress required that export rates west should be given. After much discussion this principle was conceded by Messrs. Kerr and Whyte. The question of coal, hay and vegetable rates to Calgary was then taken up. As those present were not posted on these branches of business, Messrs Whyte and Kerr suggested that a proposition as to a reduction in rates be prepared and laid before them giving the reasons therefor and they would give the matter their best consideration. A committee consisting of Messrs J. Cameron, C. F. Strang, T. W. Lines and F. Oliver was appointed to communicate with Messrs. Kerr and Whyte with a view to securing ing such freight rates on grain to the Pacific coast and on coal, hay and vegetables to Southern Alberta and interior British Columbia as would admit of business being done.

The question of a bridge across the Saskatchewan was then discussed. Supt. Whyte expressed himself strongly in favor of a bridge and if possible a railway and traffic bridge, but at the same time could not promise any active assistance from the company.

The question of train service was then taken up. The blame of the delays of last summer was laid on the close connections with the main line trains. Supt. Whyte pointed out that it was a matter for the people to choose whether they desired close connections, with the possibility of delays, or a break in the connection at Calgary as at present and punctual service. No encouragement was given for an improvement in the train accommodation or of a change from the present mixed to a purely passenger train in the near future. Improvement in the accommodation would depend upon the increase of traffic.

After some further desultory discussion the interview closed and the railway men returned to their train, which left for the south at 2 p. m.

FRIENDS NO LONGER.

Manitoba Liberal.
The attitude of the the conservative press of this province toward the C.P.R. is no longer of that friendly nature that prevailed a few months ago. It is now a twelvemonth since our contemporaries, the Review and the Morning Monitor, were of the opinion that we were not entitled to have lower freight rates by virtue of the bargain made with the C. P. R. company, and a demand for relief, for more favorable rates, never came from that section of the press.

If we had no right to ask lower rates a year ago, what circumstance has changed the conservative press that we have the right to do so now? No alteration of sentiment has been made in the bargain with the C. P. R. The policy of the railroad company are less than they were two years ago, yet at that time the Review did not complain of excessive freight charges, as it does now.

The cause of this change of attitude in the Review and other newspapers of political stripe is not obscure. About two years ago the C. P. R. company concluded that it had got all the subsidies, land grants, etc., that the people would give it, and recognizing the fact that free trade relations with other countries meant greater agricultural and commercial prosperity in the northwest, in which prosperity it would largely share, decided to cease being a political factor. It also saw that with wheat rapidly going down in price, something would have to be done or the farmers would be ruined. The lowering of the freight rate on wheat would be so much gain to the farmer. A revenue tariff would also cheapen his purchases. The C. P. R. naturally urges the latter hoping that it will give enough relief to prevent a determined and resistless demand for reduction of the freight rates. Its support being lost to the conservative party, it is easy to see that conservative newspapers would no longer regard it with so friendly an eye. These papers will find it a little difficult to square their cry for reduced rates with their former assertions concerning the C. P. R. contract.

In marked contradistinction to the vacillating course of our tory contemporaries is the persistent demand of the liberal press for freight rates less ruinous to the Northwest. And notwithstanding the manifest desire of the C. P. R. company to turn public attention towards tariff reform alone, the liberal press will continue to demand more profits for the farmer and less for the railway.

WINNIPEG FOR TARIFF REFORM.

Manitoba, or rather an important section of Manitoba, has been given its first opportunity of declaring the will of the people upon the tariff question, and a tremendous demand has been made for tariff reform. The by-election held in Winnipeg on Wednesday last, was fought out upon the straight issue of protection versus revenue tariff, and it is the first time that an election has been contested upon this issue in Manitoba. The result has been an overwhelming demand for tariff reform. The platform of the liberal party at the last general election, was so framed as to prevent Manitoba from expressing her wishes in the matter of tariff reform. Instead of coming out squarely upon the rational issue of tariff reform, the liberal platform at the last election was unrestrictive reciprocity with the United States. This platform was objectionable to the people of Manitoba and the west generally, and they preferred to reduce the evils of protection for a season, rather than swallow the peculiar and obnoxious draft which a few alleged liberals had brood their party to endorse as its public policy.

The result of the election shows clearly what Manitoba demands. Any trade or other form of compact with the United States we will not have. That was settled by the voice of the people at the last general election. The young west feels the throb of national life too strongly to countenance for a moment any movement which would tend to make this country an appendage of the United States, either from a trade or any other standpoint. We wish to be on friendly terms with the people to the south of us, and we wish to trade with them with the greatest possible freedom; but this friendship and this trade freedom must be on a solid and independent basis of commercial union or unrestricted reciprocity. We wish to trade with the United States as one independent nation trades with another, and we must do nothing to fetter ourselves in maintaining the same trade freedom with other countries than the republic. This is the will of the west. We rejected the policy of the liberal party most decisively at the last general election. We now declare as vigorously for rational tariff reform, which is the present platform of that party. It is not the people of the west (for Winnipeg undoubtedly voices in a less forcible degree the will of the west upon this issue) who have changed their views since the last election. It is the policy of the liberal party which has been changed to conform with the will of the people. If the liberal platform at the last general election two years ago, had been the same as it is to-day, Manitoba would not have been forced into the disastrous position of voting to maintain the high tariff policy of the country; but there was no other alternative present. The result of the contest in Winnipeg will only make it more evident to the liberal party that a great error was made when the party adopted a policy which it was thought to be a good one, but which was a bad one to the agricultural vote, though that policy was opposed to the true principles and good sense of the people who called themselves liberals.

The majority of between 400 and 500 for tariff reform, in a conservative stronghold like Winnipeg, with every feature in favor of the government candidate, should echo and re-echo throughout the country. It proclaims the temper of the west with no uncertain sound, and it is given double significance coming immediately after the visit of the Dominion ministers to the west. Finance minister Foster has returned east with the report that the west will be satisfied with a few minor reductions in the tariff. Winnipeg thunders no to this false assertion. The sincerity of the ministers in the matter of tariff reform was seriously questioned here all along, and Mr. Foster's statements on his return east sealed this impression. Happily they were made in time to receive a quick rebuke. The west cannot be appeased by a little tariff tinkering, no matter how hard Mr. Foster may strive to make himself and his colleagues believe it. Nothing short of a sweeping reduction of the tariff will satisfy the west, and it must come. In the face of Mr. Foster's assertions on his return east, that the west would be satisfied with some minor reductions in the tariff, there was no course left for the electors of Winnipeg but to repudiate his utterances. This they have done with vigor. Mr. Foster has spoken and Winnipeg has replied. Which verdict will the east accept?
